www.irs.gov/newsroom/article/0,,id=155682,00.html

Suspicious E-Mails

Please note, the IRS does not initiate taxpayer communications through e-mail. The IRS periodically alerts taxpayers to schemes that fraudulently use the IRS name, logo or web site clone to gain access to consumers' financial information in order to steal their identity and assets. www.irs.gov/newsroom/article/0,,id=214917,00.html

Identity Theft

If you have become a victim of identity theft, please call the Identity Protection Specialized Unit (IPSU) at 1-800-908-4490. The IPSU will assist taxpayers that are, or may become, victims of identity theft.

www.taxadmin.org.fta/link/FORMS.html

Business and Estate Tax Returns

IRS Offices overseas do not provide tax assistance on business or estate tax returns. For business tax questions, please refer to Publication 15 or call the U.S. at [+1] (800) 829-4933. For estate and gift tax questions for non-residents of the U.S. please call [+1] (202)874-1660. For all other estate and gift tax questions, please use [+1] (800) 829-1040.

International Social Security Agreements

International Social Security agreements, often called "Totalization Agreements," have two main purposes. First, they eliminate dual Social Security taxation. This is a situation that occurs when a worker from one country works in another country and is required to pay Social Security taxes to both countries on the same earnings. Second, the agreements help fill gaps in benefit protection for workers who have divided their careers between the United States and another country.

You may access various agreements that the United States has with other countries at: www.ssa.gov/international/agreements_overview.html

London IRS Office Operations

One of the missions of the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) offices overseas is to provide taxpayer assistance to American citizens living abroad and foreign citizens with U.S. tax obligations. Required Reporting of Foreign Financial Assets

(FATCA) Form 8938

The Foreign Account Tax Compliance Act (FATCA), enacted in 2010, requires U.S. taxpayers who own financial assets outside of the United States to report the fair market value of those assets to the IRS. FATCA also requires foreign financial institutions to report certain information about financial accounts held by U.S. taxpayers, or by foreign entities in which U.S. taxpayers hold a substantial ownership interest.

Taxpayer reporting under FATCA currently applies to specified individuals who include U.S. citizens, any non-citizen who meets the substantial presence test, a non-resident alien who makes an election to be treated as a resident alien for purposes of filing a joint tax return, and a non-resident alien who is a bona fide resident of American Samoa or Puerto Rico. While the obligation to report arises only if the total value of the taxpayer's specified foreign financial assets exceeds the minimum threshold for that taxpayer's filing status, reporting is required whether the taxpayer is living in the United States or living abroad.

If you are a taxpayer living abroad you must file form 8938 if:

- You are filing a return other than a joint return and the total value of your specified foreign assets is more than $200,000 on the last day of the tax year or more than $300,000 at any time during the year; or
- You are filing a joint return and the value of your specified foreign asset is more than $400,000 on the last day of the tax year or more than $600,000 at any time during the year.

Refer to the Form 8938 instructions for information on how to determine the total value of your specified foreign financial assets.

For additional threshold amounts, definitions, valuation methods and FAQ's please see:

www.irs.gov/businesses/corporations/article/0,,id=236667,00.html

Foreign Bank and Financial Accounts (FBAR)

American citizens and residents who have a financial interest or authority over a foreign bank account, brokerage account, mutual fund, unit trust and/or other financial account(s), with an aggregate value in excess of $10,000 at any time during the year, must file a report of those account(s), even though the account(s) produce(s) no taxable income. The information should be shown by checking box 7a and b on Form 1040, Schedule B, as well as filing Form TD F 90-22.1, Report of Foreign Bank and Financial Accounts (FBAR). For copies of the form, instructions and additional information please see:

www.irs.gov/businesses/small/article/0,,id=148849,00.html

The FBAR is not to be attached to your Federal income tax return. The granting, by the IRS, of an extension of time to file Federal Income Tax Returns does not extend the due date for filing an FBAR. There is no extension available for filing the FBAR and it must be received in Detroit by June 30th to be considered timely filed.

Filing Deadline and Filing Addresses

U.S. income tax returns for 2011 are due on April 17, 2012. However, if you reside overseas, your return is due on June 15, 2012 because you are given an automatic two-month extension to file. If this is your case, write across the top of your return: Taxpayer Resident Abroad. However, any tax due must be paid by April 17, 2012 to avoid being charged penalties and interest.

Additional extension of time to file: To receive an extension of time to file until October 15, 2012, complete and mail Form 4868 to the address designated on that form before your return due date.

Timely Receipt of Foreign-Filed Payments

Mailing Address for Taxpayers resident outside the U.S.:

For courier deliveries only the street address is:

Department of the Treasury
Internal Revenue Service
Austin Service Center
Austin, TX 73301-0215, U.S.A.

Austin, Texas 78741, U.S.A.

Federal tax returns and other documents mailed to the IRS are treated as filed on the date of the domestic or foreign postmark. However, payments with foreign postmarks are not considered received until the date of actual receipt rather than the postmark date. This includes payments submitted with tax returns. Accordingly, you should take this into consideration when mailing a payment from outside the U.S. in order to avoid late payment penalties and interest charges.

Private delivery services: If you use a private delivery service designated by the IRS to send your return, the postmark date generally is the date the private delivery service records in its database or marks on the mailing label. The private delivery service can tell you how to get written proof of this date. Please see the link below for a list of the designated private delivery services and the physical addresses for the various service centers.

Individual Taxpayer Identification Numbers

(ITINs) Form W-7

Taxpayers who do not qualify for a Social Security Number (SSN) and who have a taxable event in the U.S. may request an ITIN by filing a Form W-7 and qualifying with a certified copy of your passport or other acceptable IDs, plus required supporting documentation.

Please note that this ITIN number is assigned for Federal tax purposes ONLY. They cannot be used for identification and they have nothing to do with immigration.

This office does not assign ITINs, but we can help with your application by reviewing your Form W-7 and related documentation, certifying copies of your personal identification and sending the application package to the U.S. for processing. The Service Center in the U.S. will notify you if they need more information from you or they will assign your ITIN number and send it to you by post to the address on your Form W-7. This can take up to 12 weeks from the date the IRS Service Center in Austin receives all documents required. If you have not heard from the Service Center in 12 weeks, or if your application was unsuccessful, this office can look into the matter.

Please read the Form W-7 instructions (www.irs.gov/pub/irs-pdf/fw7.pdf) and Publication 1915 (www.irs.gov/pub/irs-pdf/p1915.pdf) carefully. For more information on ITINs, call 1-267-941-1099 (not toll free) via the internet at :www.irs.gov/taxtopics/tc857.html.

ITIN or EIN?

ITINS are for non-U.S. individuals only. Employer Identification Numbers (EINS) are for corporations, partnerships and other business entities needing a tax identification number. Apply for an EIN by submitting a completed Form SS-4 in accordance with the instructions. If the principal officer is not a U.S. person and does not have a U.S. tax identification number (SSN or ITIN), write "NRA" (Non-Resident Alien) in the space where the tax identification number should be. For more information please go to:

www.irs.gov/businesses/small/article/0,,id=98350,00.html.

Exchange Rates

You must report all income in U.S. dollar equivalents. The IRS has no official exchange rate. Any posted exchange rate that is used consistently is acceptable. For additional exchange rates, check the U.S. treasury website at <http://fms.treas.gov/intn.html#rates> or commercial sites such as www.oanda.com. Taxpayers generally use the yearly average exchange rate to report foreign income that was regularly received throughout the year. If you had a few foreign transactions on particular days however, you may prefer to use the exchange rates for such days. Below are unofficial average exchange rates for selected currencies. Amount shown is one foreign currency unit to equivalent U.S. dollars. For example, in 2011 £1,000 Great Britain Pounds would convert to $1,540 USD (£1,000 Pounds multiplied by 1.54 = $1,540 USD). These exchange rates reflect the typical average cash exchange rate.

Filing Prior Year Returns

American citizens living outside of the U.S. are subject to the same filing requirements that apply to American citizens living in the U.S. The U.S. tax-filing requirement is based on worldwide income from all sources irrespective of residence.

Filing a past due return may not be as difficult as you think. Taxpayers should file all tax returns that are due, regardless of whether or not full payment can be made with the return. Depending on an individual's circumstances, a taxpayer filing late may qualify for a payment plan. All payment plans require continued compliance with all filing and payment responsibilities after the plan is approved. For additional information on payment plans and installment agreements, please see www.irs.gov/businesses/small/article/0,,id=108347,00.html.

Full payment of taxes saves you money. Here are some advantages to filing as soon as possible:

- Generally, if a taxpayer is due a refund for withholding or estimated taxes paid, it must be claimed within 3 years of the return due date or risk losing the right to it. The same rule applies to a right to claim a tax credit such as the Earned Income Credit (EIC).
- Self-employed persons who do not file a return will not receive credits toward Social Security retirement or disability benefits. Failure to file results in not reporting any self-employment income to the Social Security Administration.
- Special benefits, such as the foreign earned income exclusion and/or foreign tax credit, may only be claimed if an income tax return is filed.

The statute of limitations for tax assessments does not begin to run until a tax return is filed. Therefore, the statute remains open on any tax year for which a tax return has not been filed.

FBAR: Please see page 16 for additional filing requirements if you have a foreign bank account that had a balance of over $10,000 at any time during the year.

Payments

PAYMENT METHODS

Checks: All checks must be in U.S. dollars made payable to the United States Treasury. The front of the check should contain the taxpayer's Social Security Number or ITIN, the tax return form number and the tax year. Form 1040-V should be included with your check.

Paying via Credit or Debit Card: Payment by debit or credit card can be made by phone, Internet or when e-filing. It's safe and secure - standard, commercial card networks are used. The IRS does not receive or store card numbers and payment information will not be disclosed for any reason other than processing the transaction authorized by the taxpayer. Please see www.irs.gov/efile/article/0,,id=101316,00.htm for a list of service providers and their fees. Although, the IRS does not charge a fee for this service most service providers do charge a convenience fee of 2%-4%.

Electronic Federal Tax Payment System (EFTPS): Federal taxes may be paid using the EFTPS system. For details on how to enroll, visit www.eftps.gov or call EFTPS Customer Service at [+1] (800) 316-6541 or [+1] (303) 967-5916.

Electronic Funds Withdrawal: You may authorize an electronic funds withdrawal from a U.S. checking or savings account by using tax preparation software or a professional tax preparer. Check with the financial institution for the correct routing and account numbers.

The IRS may not recommend any particular preparer. However, for help in preparing business and estate tax returns as well as complex individual returns, a list of local U.S. tax preparers may be requested from the Office of American Citizen Services at your nearest American Embassy or Consulate.

For United Kingdom purposes, please go to Special Consular Services page on the United States Embassy website to download the most current list. (http://london.usembassy.gov/cons_new/acs/living_in_the_uk.html)
